Summary

With a robust foundation in full-stack development, my recent tenure has been marked by a dedication to creating innovative web solutions. At Vocelli Pizza, I honed my customer service skills, ensuring every interaction was handled with diligence and care. My competencies extend to front-end technologies, including HTML, CSS, JavaScript, and back-end systems with server-side languages.

My approach is grounded in continuous learning, staying abreast of technological advancements, and applying them to drive tangible results. As a developer, I'm committed to collaborating effectively, bringing a mix of technical acumen and creative problem-solving to the table. Poised to connect and contribute to dynamic projects, I seek opportunities that leverage my development skills and customer service expertise.
